- 1.1. Stanislaw Kostarski, former Polish Charge d'Affaires in China, and his wife left Shanghai for Poland via Hongkong about 4 August 1948. Prior to their departure they secured British and French visas.
2. Kostarski holds diplomatic passport number NW563, issued on 18 January 1946 by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs in Warsaw. Anna Kostarski, nee Likwornik, holds passport "Service W. Number 1099". According to her passport she was married to Stanislaw Kostarski in Shanghai on 12 June 1947.
3. K. Symonolewicz, new Polish Charge d'Affaires in China, intends to enlarge the range of Polish activities in China and is planning to open a Polish consulate in Shanghai in the near future. He wants to visit the Poles in Harbin and determine whether or not he should open a consulate there. The major task facing Symonolewicz is that of winning support for the Warsaw Government from those Poles in China who are not now sympathetic to the Warsaw regime.
4. In contrast to his predecessor, Symonolewicz lives very frugally. During his trips to Shanghai, he and his wife occupy a room at the Polish Association and prepare their own meals there.
